

ANNUAL REPORT OF DIVE TRAINING AND OPERATIONS
October 1, 2013 - September 30, 2014 (FY-14)

New England Dive Unit

The US EPA's New England Dive Unit is comprised of divers from the Atlantic Ecology Division (AED) Laboratory in Narragansett, RI, and the Region 1 Regional Office in Boston, MA. The following is a summary of dive operations in FY-14.

A: DIVING ACTIVITIES

1. Diving Operations

Non-responsive

- Conducted video transects for presence/abundance of invasive freshwater Asian clam (Corbicula fluminea) in the Merrimack River in proximity to Merrimack Station Power Plant, Bow, NH. Work was conducted in support of NPDES permit program. Pollutant exposure: none expected.

Non-responsive

2. Dive Locations

Merrimack River, Bow, NH

Non-responsive

3.

Non-responsive

D. DIVE EQUIPMENT

Non-responsive; Deliberative Process

E. REVIEW OF UNIT DIVING PERSONNEL

Non-responsive